HILLIFE 1956

The Annual Publication
CHAPEL HILL HIGH SCHOOL
CHAPEL HILL
NORTH CAROLINA

We present the 1956 Hilllife to you, the students of Chapel Hill High School, with the hope that in future years it will serve as a vivid reminder of all that the school year 1955-1956 has meant to you.

Of course all of you will remember our nice new building and the not so new Cone House, and nobody at CHHS can ever forget the Tincan.

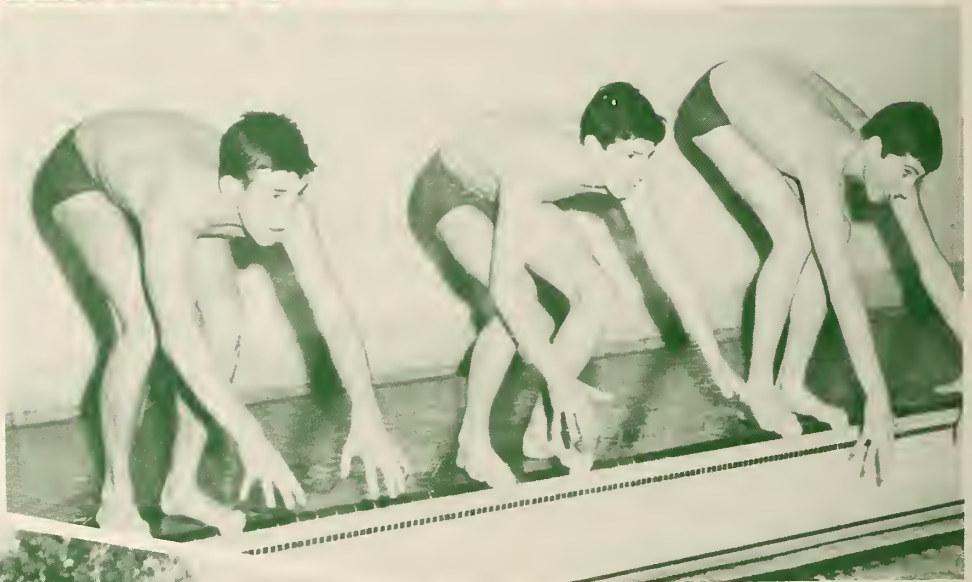

The group of students shown in this photo were members of the Student Body of the University of the Pacific during the year 1940-1941. The group was taken in the gymnasium of the university and is one of the largest group portraits ever taken by the university. The group consists of approximately 100 students and is a very good representation of the student body of that year.

There are still other things to be remembered: the sports events, whether you played or sat in the stands and cheered, and the social activities, the formal dances and Saturday nights at the Rec.

Yes, in these pages is told a story to be looked back on and cherished in years to come, the story of all the many wonderful things that have made up this year at Chapel Hill High School.

The Senior Class dedicates the 1956 Hilllife to Miss Emma Lee Davis. We realize that much of what we have achieved during our years in high school has been inspired by her interest in us and her work on our behalf. She taught us, and we learned many things and enjoyed learning them; she helped us, when we gave the Junior Play and the Junior-Senior; she believed in us, and we learned to believe in ourselves.

Miss Davis, we are glad that we have known you as a teacher and as a friend. We want to say thank you for everything you have done for us.

Our Class History

In September of 1952, a group of bewildered teenagers met in the high school auditorium on what was known as Orientation Day. The group was the Freshman Class of that year, and we were being told about the traditions of Chapel Hill High School and shown about the new and what seemed to us almost overwhelmingly large building. Coleman Gentry, President of the Student Council, and Jimmy Goodwin, Chief Justice of the Honor Council, who were to lead the school for the rest of the year, talked to us that day. We weren't really the Class of 1956 then; we were just a lot of students from many different places who were assembled there. We soon became a class, though, through the many new experiences that we shared. The mad rush of changing classes, the masses, or so it seemed, of upperclassmen in the hallways, the impossible-to-open locks, all of these are things which traditionally baffle freshmen, and we were no exception. We enjoyed going to the ball games and were almost immediately proclaimed the "yellingest" class CHHS had ever produced. Our classes also played their part in helping us get to know each other. At class elections that year we chose Cookie Andrews for our president. We continued the tradition of having a freshman Sweetheart Queen when Jean Hackney won that title, and Ka Smith added more glory for our class by her election as Maid of Honor. The awe-inspiring title of Senior Class seemed like something in the far-distant future, but we were already developing a great class spirit and felt that we were really a part of Chapel Hill High School.

Eagerly, we went back to school in the fall of 1953, anxious to see what our sophomore year would bring us. We weren't the leaders of the school yet, though sometimes for the benefit of the freshmen we pretended that we felt a little bigger and wiser than we really did. We did, however, begin to participate in more of the activities of the school and to hold offices and take responsibilities. Our stunt "Juvenile Jury" won second prize at Stunt Night. That year, as during each of our first three years in high school, we worked very hard to try to beat the class of 1955 on Stunt Night. No matter how hard we tried, they always finished first, but our stunts were a lot of fun nevertheless. Robert Blackwood was President of CHHS in 1953-54, and Mike Gallagher was Chief Justice. Teddy Moore was the president of our class in our Sophomore year, the year that contained a little of the excitement about the newness of high school life that our Freshman year did and a little of the responsibility and work and fun of running the school activities that our Junior and Senior years did.

1954-55—our Junior year, and the money we had been saving, and the plans we had been making, and the dreams we had been dreaming all came to a head, for the Junior year is the time when one of the most ambitious undertakings of a class is carried out, the giving of a Junior-Senior. Clarice Merritt and Martha Ann Cheek were President of the student body and Chief Justice respectively, and Cookie Andrews again had the very important role of class president. Early in the fall we waged a magazine-selling campaign and were quite successful as salesmen, managing to make more money than any other Junior Class before us. This was hardly completed before we launched into rehearsals for our Junior Class Play, "Hook, Line, and Sinker." It developed that many people in the Class of 1956 were really "hams" at heart, and that fact coupled with many nights of practice made the production a howling success. Ka Smith reigned as Sweetheart Queen at the Sweetheart Ball in February. In March came the basketball tournaments. We all went to Henderson to see our team take the District Championship and then down to Sanford to see them win the Consolation Championship in the State AA tournament. Everybody yelled until he was hoarse, but we think maybe the Juniors yelled just a little louder than anybody else. All year plans were made for the Junior-Senior. It was to be held at the Hope Valley Country Club on May 13, and the theme was to be "Under the Sea." The weeks immediately preceding the banquet and dance were certainly hectic ones—fish had to be painted on dance programs, names had to be lettered on place cards, an octopus had to be constructed, and shells had to be lavishly sprinkled with silver glitter. The great day finally came, though true to Friday the 13, it was rainy. The rain stopped in the afternoon, however, and as we danced that evening to the music of Jim Crisp's band, we certainly felt repaid for all our hard work. Graduation that year made us a little sad because we realized that the next year it would be we who would be up there and then our high school days would be over. We didn't have time to be sad for very long, though, for elections had already given to members of our class the highest offices and responsibilities in high school.

September, 1955, and at last we were Seniors. We were determined to make every single minute of our last year in high school be one in which we were doing something, and we very nearly succeeded in this. Ronnie Lackey was President of Chapel Hill High School, and Teddy Moore filled the post of Chief Justice, which had greater importance since the Honor System had been definitely voted in during the spring elections. Michael Alexander was chosen president of our class. We felt even more like Seniors when we received our class rings, and these were proudly displayed to many admiring underclassmen, students who probably wondered just as we had if they would ever attain the coveted title of Senior. As the year went along, our duties and activities seemed to gain momentum, and there were many preparations for graduation: calling cards and invitations were ordered, and we were measured for our caps and gowns. Then came our Senior Play, and the Junior-Senior, this year being given for us instead of by us. Before we had time to think about its coming, final examinations were over, and graduation had arrived. In four years the members of the Class of 1956 had shared many wonderful experiences and had succeeded in developing a class spirit and loyalty which would never be forgotten.

Student Council

The members of the Student Council work hard all year long in a conscientious effort to improve Chapel Hill High School and to make the activities of the school run smoothly. The projects that it sponsors are the Student Handbook, Orientation Day for new students, the Get-Acquainted Dance, Stunt Night, and Vocations Day. Some of the other activities of the Student Council are selecting a Student of the Month, helping to care for the buildings and grounds, planning assemblies, and helping new students become acquainted with the school.

Honor Council

The Honor Council is the judicial branch of our student government here at Chapel Hill High School. The presence of the Honor System allows the students the highest form of self-government possible because it gives them the power to discipline themselves. All the actions of the Honor Council are directed toward strengthening the character of the students and helping them to become better citizens.

Hilllife

Though the Hilllife is a publication which appears only once during the year, the members of the staff work hard on it all year long. Each person has a specific responsibility, but he is not restricted to that one job. Everyone who works on the Hilllife does whatever he can to help put out a good annual, one that is worthy of the students of Chapel Hill High School.

The result of all this work is a paper that is read and thoroughly enjoyed by all the students.

Band

The Chapel Hill High School Band has a wide reputation for its excellence, and its members work hard to maintain this reputation. In the fall the band plays during half-time at the football games. For the rest of the year more serious music is practiced. This is in preparation for the several public concerts given each year and for the district and state contests which the band enters.

The members present a Christmas program and usually at least one other public concert during the year. In the spring the Glee Club competes with other clubs in the state at a contest held at Meredith College in Raleigh, and some of its members sing with the State Chorus in Greensboro.

Qualification for membership rests on these four ideals, and active membership is limited to Juniors and Seniors meeting these requirements.

The Dramatics Club has grown to be one of the most active organizations in school. The programs of this club consist of having speakers on topics such as acting, make-up, and scenery; giving readings; and presenting skits. The Dramatics Club presents several plays in assembly each year, and the climax of its activities is the play it enters in the spring festival of the Carolina Dramatics Association.

Our "Rec"

The Chapel Hill Recreation Center, better known as the "Rec," has for so long played such a great part in the lives of the students of Chapel Hill High School that we can hardly believe that the proposed demolishing of it will actually take place. It now appears, however, that 1955-56 is the last school year that our present "Rec" will be used. We have spent some of our happiest hours in this building, and we shall never forget it nor its director, Miss Sarah Umstead. We hope that with Sarah's help there will be a new "Rec" soon, one that will mean as much to future students of Chapel Hill High School as the present "Rec" has meant to all of us.

Athletics

Physical Education

Every person in high school is required to take three years of Physical Education. The Physical Education classes provide a wide variety of activities student participation. During the fall and spring, the classes are held out-of-doors, while in the winter, they are held in the Tin Can and in the Physical Education classroom. The activities of the girls include hallball, speedball, basketball, volleyball, softball, shuffleboard, and dancing. The boys play soccer, football, softball, and shuffleboard. The program of both the girls and the boys includes one unit of health each year. Though everyone who takes Physical Education is certainly not a skilled athlete, the activities of this class are enjoyed by all and form an important part of our well-rounded curriculum here at Chapel Hill High School.

Cheerleaders

Whenever the students of Chapel Hill High School go to ball games, whether here or out of town, our great school spirit is always commended by other people attending the games. This spirit is due in a large part to the hard work of our Cheerleaders. In May, when elections are held to choose the officers of the school, the Head Cheerleader is elected. Then tryouts are held to choose the other cheerleaders for the coming year. Eight girls, including three from the combined Freshman and Sophomore classes and five from the combined Junior and Senior classes are selected by a committee composed of the Head Cheerleader, one member of the academic faculty, one member of the Physical Education faculty, and one person not affiliated with the school. The cheerleaders cheer at each football and basketball game and lead the pep rallies. Whether we are winning or losing, the cheerleaders can be counted on to do their job well.

Football

Although the season record is only mediocre, the 1955 Wildcats let everyone know that they were in there scrapping. Starting the season off with a close defeat by Sanford, 6-0, the Wildcats roared back in the second game with an unexpected win over Dunn 20-0. After this victory, the boys believed that the losing plague that had been hovering over them in the past years was cured.

Many wins and a few losses have made this year's basketball season one to long remember. Fortune frowned on the Wildcats when several serious injuries depleted the team, but she smiled again when the "Cats" overcame the handicaps to place high in the district standings.

Sweethearts Of 1956

February 11, 1956—the day of the Sweetheart Ball. The Carrboro School Auditorium, gaily decorated with red and white streamers, was filled with high school students all anxiously awaiting the crowning of the Sweetheart Queen. Two girls from each class had been chosen on the basis of personality to be candidates for this honor. The winner was to be the girl having the most votes, a penny each. Midway through the dance, the winner was announced and crowned as this year's Sweetheart of Chapel Hill High School.

Homecoming 1955

Queen Elaini Livas being crowned by Mr. Noble.

For the first time in its history, Homecoming was sponsored by the Student Council, and it was a great success. Clubs and classes worked on floats many days before the afternoon parade; these floats certainly showed the time and effort spent in constructing them. Also, for the first time, the Homecoming Queen was elected by a vote of the student body. Each class chose a representative to the Homecoming Court. All the activities of the day were climaxed during the halftime of the Henderson football game when the Homecoming Queen of Chapel Hill High School was crowned.
